sins Uhirich the name of the Murdered Man.—On the 18th day of May last, a man cailing himself Klemenz Uhirich, made his appearance at the house of John Holms, a German, immediately above Bridgeport. This man was in company with another, and both represented that they had come up the river from Parkersburg. Both went to work with Helms, who has charge of a vine-yard on the Ohio side of the river. A short time after, Uhirich quit work and came over to this city, taking board at most of the whisky. To this Mr. S.

at work for him.

Since his advent here Uhirich has said the match was to come off. Mr. Since his advent here Uhirich has said the match was to come off. Mr. Helma saw the paper of yesterday morning, containing the account of the inding of the body of a murdered man, he remembered that Klemenz Ulrich had been working for him, and that he had heard him say he had a brother named Aloisius in Parkersburg. Helma came over to town at once and notified the police of the man Klemenz Ulrich having been at his house, and of his having come over to this city. Search was timmediately made, and Uhirich was at last discoverable. house, and of his naving come over to this city. Search was immediately made, and Uhlrich was at last discovered at the house of Mr. Kline in the First Ward. He was taken to the Police Court room and examined by Justice Johnson, an interpreter being which offence he was adjudged to employed.

On being shown the paper in German, he acknowledged the signature to be his. Being then questioned as to the personal appearance of his brother Aloisius, he gave a description of his ciothes, which corresponds with that of the wearing apparel found upon the clothes, which corresponds with that of the wearing apparel found upon the murdered man; said that his brother had lost some of his front teeth, a loss which had been observed in the corpect and gave other particulars, all rendering it morally certain that the body found was that of Aloisius Ulrich.

Additional questions being put to meet this morning, at 9 o'clock, he had written two letters to him since then but had received no answer. He was now told that his brother had been murdered. The news seemed to affect him very much. He ch ked up, and wept, and did not recover his composure for a considerable length of time. He was then given to understand that it would be necessary for him to be present to-day, for further examination. To make everything sure, he was taken to the jall, though not under constraint, for lodging during the night.

Hollyhocks.—At the wholesale house of C. L. Zane & Cc., on Quincy street, adjoining this office, there were on exhibition, yesterday, a dozen or two of floral marvels in the shape of hollyhocks. These flowers were the most perfect of their kind we ever saw, and would rival if not surpass in beauty the loveliest rose. They were all perfectly formed and were so large that any one of them would cover the mouth of a tumbler. Their colors were of all shades, and Mr. Zane informed us that he had succeeded in producing about thirty different tints. If any one cares to look at an extraordinary hollyhock, let him or her call upon Mr. Zane.

Meet this morning, at 9 o'clock, and was now had been murdered. The news answer to halben and the time and the bear was a seemed to affect this ment on the collection of welghing instruments exhibited by the house of Fairbanks & Co., of St. Joinsburg, Vt., which has, for a long time, sustained a great reputation in this branch braces the most complete assortment of manufactures. This collection of mental structure scales capable of weighing instrainents, universally used in America, are adapted to all the different systems of weights and measures in use in every country. This exposition deserves to be recommended to all our mechanics and farmers, and to every body interested in perfect weighing instruments.
